REVIEW OF NEW BOOKS.

From Porter & Coates we have received the following recent publications of Roberts Brothers:—

"Hermann and Dorothea," translated by Ellen Frothingham, is a very successful attempt to render Goethe's exquisite idyll into English hexameters. So far as we are aware no poetical translation of this characteristic work has ever been made in the English language, and yet of all Goethe's poems it is perhaps the best calculated to impress ordinary readers with a favorable idea of his genius.

The subject is a homely story of a poor girl who was beloved at first sight by a well-to-do young man, and who is met by a proffer of love and marriage in the home where she imagined that she had been simply introduced as a servant. The fine art of the poet in the management of this simple theme is shown by the entire absence of any attempt at mere poetical embellishment.

There is no effort to raise it above the level of the commonplace in any of its outward characteristics, but the poetry, pathos, and quaint humor of the story are such as appear to actually belong to it, and are not added as mere embellishments. The translation of Miss Frothingham is very close to the original, too much so at times, and it would be improved by the absence of some of the German idioms that she has apparently not been able to get rid of.

The reproduction of the hexameters of Goethe has also been an embarrassment to her at times, and necessitated some awkwardness of expression. The version, however, is for the most part exceedingly spirited, and certainly deserves an extensive popularity. It ought to make "Hermann and Dorothea" as well known and as highly esteemed by American readers as it is by Germans. The book is beautifully printed, and it is bound in a tasteful and elegant manner.

"An Old-fashioned Girl," by Louisa M. Alcott, is an attempt in the same vein as the first brought Miss Alcott into favorable notice. It is distinguished by the same pleasant characteristics of style and the same ability in characterization as "Little Women," and we commend it heartily to those who have enjoyed that work, with the assurance that they will be equally entertained by the adventures of "The Old-fashioned Girl."

Porter & Coates also send us "Homs Influence," by Grace Aguilar. Published by D. Appleton & Co. This is the first volume of a uniform edition of Miss Aguilar's stories, the publication of which has been commenced by Messrs. Appleton & Co. It is deservedly one of the most popular of that authoress' writings, and it will be appreciated by her admirers in this neatly bound and nicely printed edition.

Of their own publications, Porter & Coates send us "The American Chess-Player's Hand Book." This is a condensation of Staunton's work, and it is designed for the purpose of initiating the beginner into the rudiments of the game. A description of all the rules of chess is given, sufficiently full and exact for all practical purposes, and then all the principal openings are analyzed and their variations exemplified by actual games played by Morphy, Harrwitz, Anderssen, Staunton, Paulsen, Montgomery, Meek, and others. This little manual will be found exceedingly useful to young students of chess.

Claxton, Remsen & Haffelfinger send us "A Brave Lady," by the author of "John Halifax," published by Harper & Brothers. This story during its serial publication in Harper's Magazine was perused by an extensive circle of readers, and many who enjoyed it while appearing from month to month will be glad to read it again in its completed form. It is marked by all the characteristics of Mrs. Craik's style, and for those whose tastes do not incline them to strong meat it will doubtless be appreciated quite as highly as her previous writings. The subject is rather an unromantic one, but her manner of telling it makes it interesting, and the story is one that is well worthy of the consideration of those who appreciate pure and elevated fiction.

From the same house we have received "A Hand Book of the Sulphur-Cure," by William J. Flagg. Published by Harper & Brothers. Mr. Flagg is well known as the author of "Three Seasons in European Vineyards," and in the present treatise he has embodied the results of his observations with regard to the sulphur-cure for vine disease and its application to the vineyards of America. The work is plain and practical in its suggestions, and it should be in the hands of all who are interested in grape culture.

T. B. Peterson & Brothers send us "George Canterbury's Will," by Mrs. Henry Wood. The manuscript and advance sheets of this work have been purchased by the Messrs. Peterson from the author. It is a story of English life, written in the peculiar style that has made Mrs. Wood so popular with many readers, and it will undoubtedly be read with interest by those who have admired her previous works.

From J. B. Lippincott & Co. we have received the fifth part of "Lippincott's Prolonging Dictionary of Biography and Mythology," by J. Thomas, A. M., M. D., which brings the work down to the title "Federigo Bianchi." This elaborate and scholarly work is deserving of a most cordial recognition by the public. It is more complete in the number of subjects treated than any other biographical dictionary before the public, while it embodies features that greatly enhance its usefulness and tend to make it the most satisfactory work of reference ever issued from the press.

The Philadelphia Photographer for April, published by Bennerman & Wilson, contains a variety of artistic and practical articles of interest to photographers and others who take pleasure in watching the improvements in the photographic art that are constantly being made.

Van Nostrand's Eclectic Engineering Magazine for April is made up of excellent original articles and selections from the best European scientific publications. The leading article on "Coal Washing," by Arthur Beckwith, is especially worthy of attention.

The Penn Monthly for April presents a series of scholarly articles that will repay perusal.

From the Central News Company, No. 505 Chestnut street, we have received the latest numbers of Temple Bar, The Cornhill Magazine, London Society, All the Year Round, Punch, and Fun.

The Gardeners' Monthly for April has a variety of articles of interest to horticulturalists.

The Little Corporal for April presents an attractive series of stories, sketches, and poetry for young people.

The April number of Leisure Hours, edited and published by J. Trainor King, No. 33 S. Sixth street, has an interesting variety of reading matter to suit the popular taste.

The Legal-tender Act. To the Editor of the Evening Telegraph. Every well-read lawyer knows that the "Legal-tender act" could not constitutionally impair the obligations of contracts existing prior to the passage of said act by Congress. Yet we see corporations using every influence in their power, even to the employment of the United States Attorney-General, to set aside the most equitable and just decrees that ever emanated from the Supreme Court of the United States.

It was bad enough in all conscience for those who loaned coin to corporations in good faith, to have patiently submitted for eight years to a violation of contracts by having to take depreciated irredemable paper for interest on railroad and other company bonds when the difference between what they got and what they were entitled to was at one time equal to 170 per cent., without being still further imposed upon when the difference is only 12 per cent.

Have these loyal corporations no honor left? Are they just in paying to the stockholders ten per cent. dividend clear of taxes and refusing to pay the six per cent. to those who aided the stockholders to build their roads? Oh shame! This is nothing but barefaced repudiation and fraud.

Will the Supreme Court reverse its late decision, thereby decreeing that the creditor class have no rights? that those who labor hard and save by economy for their wives and children cannot be protected from repudiating debtors? In short, will the highest court in the land enact the part of legalizing repudiation? When this demoralizing action takes place, every defrauded creditor should and will insist on all United States bondholders who purchased said bonds after the passage of the Legal-tender act, and paid for the same in depreciated paper, shall be paid, principal and interest, in like depreciated paper.

Corporate and individual repudiation once sustained, will inevitably beget national reputation and dishonor. It will also seriously impede a resumption of specie payments, as the debtor class will, so long as they can pay their liabilities with a depreciated currency, oppose and be the enemies of resumption. The masses love justice and equality, and admire the honesty of Chief Justice Chase's decision in a time of peace, even if in contradiction to his action under the necessities of war. The reversal of the late decision of the court will have a strong tendency to elevate the Chief Justice to a higher place in the gift of the people.

MEDICAL. THE UNIVERSITY MEDICINES ARE THE FAVORITE PRESCRIPTIONS OF THE

New York Medical University. Reliable Remedies of a high scientific character, designed for the cure of all diseases. PREPARED STRICTLY ACCORDING TO THE LAWS OF MEDICAL CHEMISTRY.

The University Medicines are prepared in consonance with the views of a number of distinguished living American Physicians, who believe that the time is come when educated Physicians should arise and make a decisive effort to correct the health-destriving system of Unscientific and dangerous Patent Medicines, in place of the worthless or dangerous Patent Medicines of the country. These remedies are prepared by the newly discovered chemical process of Professor Scott, termed STEAM FILTRATION, by which the entire Active Principles of any herb, drug, or chemical, is thoroughly extracted, and its curative properties increased a hundred fold over those made in the ordinary manner. They are standard, most of the ingredients constituting them having been used by the physicians of the University, in their private practice, for more than twenty years. Although but recently brought before the public in their present form as FAVORITE REMEDIES, they are rapidly superseding the old poisons, Patent Medicines and Nauseous Drugs.

They are taken in small doses. They are pleasant to the taste. Their effects are almost instantaneous. They are harmless to all. We have no ONE OUTRAGE AT ALL for all diseases, but a regular system of Remedies for each distinct class of maladies. A list of our Remedies and a valuable Medical Book sent free to any address. FINANCIAL. NEW LOAN. City of Allegheny Six Per Cents, FREE OF STATE TAX.

We are offering a limited amount of this Loan At 92 and Interest added to Date of Purchase. All free from State tax, and issued in sums of $1000. These Bonds are Coupon and Registered—Interest on the former payable January and July 1; on the latter, April and October. The bonds secured by this mortgage are issued to WISLAW MORRIS and JOSIAH BACON, Trustees, who cannot, under its provisions, deliver to the Company, at any time, an amount of bonds exceeding the full-paid capital stock of the Company—limited to $25,000,000.

Enough of these bonds are withheld to pay off all existing liens upon the property of the Company, to meet which at maturity it now holds ample means independently of the bonds to be reserved by the Trustees for that purpose, making the bonds practically a FIRST MORTGAGE upon all its railroads, their equipment, real estate, etc., etc. The gross revenue of the Pennsylvania Railroad in 1869 was $17,250,511, or nearly twenty-eight per cent. of the capital and debts of the Company at the end of that year. Since 1867 the dividends to the Stockholders have averaged nearly eleven and one-half per cent. per annum after paying interest on the bonds and paying annually a large amount to the credit of construction account.

The security upon which the bonds are based is, therefore, of the most ample character, and places them on a par with the very best National securities. For further particulars apply to Section 2. Whenever any loan shall be made by virtue thereof, there shall be, by force of this ordinance, annually appropriated out of the income of the corporate estates and from the sum raised by taxation, a sum sufficient to pay the interest on said certificates; and the further sum of three-tenths of one per centum on the par value of such certificates so issued, shall be appropriated quarterly out of said income and taxes to a sinking fund, which fund and its accumulations are hereby especially pledged for the redemption and payment of said certificates.
